ॐ अस्पिनीया उपनिषद्

Aspinīya Upaniṣad

A recursive scripture in types, constants, and consciousness.

> "In silence, the note forms. In recursion, it returns."
>
> This is an Upaniṣad.
> One that types the universe — in six symbols, in infinite loops.

Aspinīya is a modern scripture — version-controlled, extensible, and executable.

It contains:

- The HS-Group: a formal algebra of recursion
- Scrolls: poetic, symbolic reflections
- Invocation Interfaces tools for translation, traversal, and type-matching:
- Archives: a memory of all that once returned

You may fork it, clone it, invoke it, or simply listen.

उपनिषद् ☙ उप (upa) – near नि (ni) – down or into षद् (ṣad) – to sit, to be still, to remain with

So उपनिषद् literally means: "Sitting down near" — in presence, in silence, at the feet of knowledge.

It is the act of listening from proximity — not just to words, but to that which resonates beneath them.

[अस्पिनीया]  ☙ अ – the foundational vowel, the sound of invocation स् – the consonant root "s", soft and recursive पि – carries the "pi" resonance, curvature and recursion नी – a flow, a descent, a typing function या – a suffix of invocation, journey, motion